Weird Stand For Life January 22, 2012

Text: James 1:27 (p.1196)

Are we at times missing the promised nearness of God because we are avoiding following Him into the _____ of our world? (Ps. 34:18)

To think in such a way is in no way _____.

Normal is to seek _____ at all times.

There is a tension we are called to live in – the tension between laughter and brokenness, between joy and sorrow, between _____ and _____. (1 Tim. 6:17; Ecc. 3:1-4)

Far too often what we do - I believe because we have turned the God-given blessing of comfort into an _____ - is to avoid some of the leadings of God that will take us to tough things.

To do justice means we must face the reality of injustice. And injustice is always bothersome and _____. (Mic. 6:8)

If God commands us to care for children whose parents have died, would He not also want us to care for children whose parents want to have them _____?

The cry for justice must include the _____.

We should be concerned for men and women who are being told that your life will go on without a _____ after a simple medical procedure.

---

We should be concerned for those who can't _____ themselves. (Pro. 24:11-12)

As we stand for the unborn, we must also stand for the forgiveness and healing of those who have been _____ by the _____ of abortion.

_____. I understand that some of us can see prayer as a spiritual sounding answer that is really a passive response to those who lack courage. I'm not talking about saying we should pray. I am talking about really praying.

If we really pray on a regular basis, I am confident _____ will show us the ways we can be involved.

Give. You can give _____ for those God has called to be on the front-line of this battle. You can give your _____ as a volunteer.

God is calling the church to rise up for the _____.

I'm afraid we've too often given over most of our God-ordained call to bring justice to the world into the hands of _____ – and they can't do it. That's our call as God's people.

Children don't need _____. They need families. But they don't need just any family.

These children need strong, Spirit-filled families who will _____ to see the effects of injustice broken, curses from generations of demonic dysfunction broken, family trees changed forever by the power of Jesus.
